The Press is not a particularly desirable medium for the discussion of what sometimes appears to be difference of opinion among individuals or a group, and sometimes the Press correspondent presents news items the main idea being News rather than deliberations which might have preceded certain actions.

The local paper carried in its issue of March 24, 1949, a statment by the owners of the Appomattox Water Co. which was published as the result of an article published by the Lynchburg News concerning action by the Town Council of Appomattox, Virginia, in a desire to furnish adequate local water facilities.

The Appomattox Garment Company is our principal local industry, and is furnishing employment to approximately 200 local people with an annual payroll exceeding $400,000. The operations of the Garment Company here in Appomattox embrace not only the actual manufacture of childrens' dresses on a large scale, but this is also the shipping point for dresses manufactured locally as well as in other plants.

This concern has had an unusual record here in that it does and has operated on a very small margin of profit and mainly for that reason has been able to furnish full year-round employment.

The textile industry on a national scale in the past several months has experienced severe curtailments in production. The local plant has operated, however, on a full five and one-half day week.

Apporximately 50% of the output of the parent organization is supplied on a contract basis, and just for example, if the demand for the product should drop 50% it would still be assured that the Appomattox Garment Company will operate on a full-time basis, as naturally the contract production would be the first eliminated.

At times the inventory of finished products will run as high as $200,000 and this merchandise must be and is protected by insurance. On the other hand, if it was destroyed by fire the loss would be covered, but the potential purchaser would not have it in stock for his trade and would doubtless seek some other source of supply. The continuity of supply is of paramount importance to any manufacturer. Fire insurance rates are based, roughly speaking, on loss experience and risk involved. For instance, a sprinkler system installed in any building for which adequate water pressure is available would naturally reduce the fire hazard.

The Appomattox Garment Company not only intends to continue its present full-time operation here, but hopes and expects, if. as and when adequate water facilities are provided, to materially expand its operations, and action on its part is dependent upon action on the part of the locality to provide such facilities.

The present water system does not involve the question of supply, that is, insofar as the well is concerned, but the capacity andheight of the tank, with water mains of sufficient size to provide adequate pressure to satisfy MINIMUM requirements of the Insurance Underwriters Bureau is of extreme importance. Even as important as the local Water Company is to the well-being of the Town, it falls for short of meeting the above MINIMUM requirements,

Officials of the Garment Company, both by correspondence and personal conferences, have taken this matter up directly with officials of the local Water Company without any action on the part of the latter.

With the possibility of business receding generally, it appeared to those of us interested in the progress of the Town and community that since the Water Company did not provide facilities which would put Appomattox at least on a competitive basis with other municipalities in attracting and in this case maintaining local industry, then it appeared necessary to take other corrective action.

The action of the Town Council referred to by the Water Company's article was taken at a Special Meeting held at the request of the Garment Company officials.

The Water Company's published statement states emphatically that no opportunity or invitation was extended its representative to attend the meeting. This unfortunately is a misstatement of facts, as Mr. A. R. Harwood, Sr., was personally given notice of the meeting, which was open to any individual desiring to attend, at which time he stated that he would not be present.

The present Water Company has provided facilities of not only a necessary nature but which have contributed in a large way to the development of Appomattox, and possibly can and will continue for a long time to render very valuable services. On the other hand, the service could be improved, and to meet certain minimum requirements should be improved, which would entail a considerable investment. Since the Water Company has indicated an inability to accomplish the construction prescribed by the minimums the insurance companies have stated, the Town Council naturally felt that it should take the initiative to see what could be developed in order to assure continued progress for our Town.

On the other hand, if we have been in error, and if our local Water Company is in a position and is agreeable to accomplish the necessary construction as prescribed, there would be no question, inasmuch as our direct objective is to protect our security. If we were correct and the local Water Company is not in a position to satisfy the immediate requirements, then we have no alternative but to tangibly show by construction our attitude of cooperation and progress.

G. B. BUCHANAN, Mayor

(Paid Advertisement)

This is the first time in my life I have ever written anything for the press, but since my name has appeared in a certain article in the press I feel I should make a statement. This is not an apology for any one, neither is it a criticism of any thing which has been written by any one.

I just simply will give you the facts. The Mayor has given me permission to make the following statement.

At a special meeting of the Town Council held in its office March 14th, 1949, to listen to the needs of the Appomattox Garment Factory, at which time three of the officials were present; they stated that they were going to expand and wanted to expand in Appomattox if possible. They stated they were going to install a sprinkler system but the present water system did not meet the requirements of the underwriters and wanted to know what we could do about it. We are vitally interested in the Garment Factory as we are in all other enterprises in town. After some discussion the following motion was made:

"On motion by Mr. Robertson, 2nd Dr. James: That the Town install an adequate water system such as the Engineering Co. may recommend as sufficient for our present and future needs. Carried. March 14, 1949. A Copy: J. W. Cawthon, Clerk."

The above is a true copy taken from the official record book of the Town Council and signed by the Town Clerk. It was my pleasure and privilege to second this motion which I would do again under the same circumstances. As soon as this motion was passed I left to attend another meeting and I do not know what took place in the way of round table talk; there is not anything on the record. Certainly no motion was made to abandon the present water system; it is not ours to abandon. I ask you not to be too critical of your Town Council until you have heard all of the facts, because in the end you will be the one to decide the question as to supplying the Garment Factory with water. We are in the process of getting all the information necessary and as soon as we do I suppose the Mayor will have a statement for you.

Faithfully yours,
CHAS. F. JAMES.
